MUMBAI: The 26/11 court on Wednesday recorded the testimony of a Swedish woman whose phone was used by terrorists to call up their handlers in Pakistan.

Lisa Ringner was staying at room 1856 of Oberoi Hotel. When the terrorist attack started, she escaped from her room. However, she left her belongings, including a cellphone, behind. As the hotel was stormed by Marine Commandos, one of the gunmen hid in room 1856. He found Ringner's cellphone and used it to call his handlers in Pakistan. The call was intercepted by Indian security agencies and recorded.

"We examined Ringner in court to prove the conspiracy charges in the case," said special prosecutor Ujjwal Nikam. Earlier, Nikam played recordings of intercepted conversations in court to demonstrate that terrorists were acting as part of a well-coordinated terror attack being monitored from Pakistan.

Ringner had come to Mumbai to do a course in nursing from Bhabha Hospital.
