Kerala MP N N Krishnadas and three other MPs were at Hotel Taj in Mumbai , when the attack took place.

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM: Kerala MP N N Krishnadas, who was caught in the terrorist attack, was still not out of danger, when this website's newspaper spoke to him over phone at 1.50 am on Thursday.

Krishnadas and three other MPs were at Hotel Taj, when the attack took place. "We were having food at the shamiana restaurant when the firing started. There were two of them. They had their face covered with black cloth. Two foreigners who were sitting at the table next to us fell down, injured after being shot. We all took first shelter underneath the tables first. Then we ran out to the side of the swimming pool along with the staff through an emergency exit and took shelter amongst the trees beside the pool." "After an hour we opened a door on the side wall and reached the store room adjacent to the kitchen. About 1.30 am on Thursday we were guided to another hall. There are nearly 200 guests of the hotel with us. We heard a loud explosion hardly eight minutes back. We can still hear gunshots outside and we think an encounter is on between the attackers and the security personnel.

"My shirt is soaked in blood and nearly 200 of us, including four MPs, are holed up in this store room, next to the kitchen..." Pavitran, political secretary to Krishnadas, told this website's newspaper over phone.

Four MPs, Krishnadas, Bajaj, Solanki and Patel were at the Taj when the terrorist attack took place.

This website's newspaper spoke to Pavitran at 1.15 am on Thursday, and he was still not sure what exactly was happening around them.
